GORM ASKJÆR TRIO+ MICROVERSE I

Label: Jaeger Community Music
Release Date: June 9, 2026
Format: Vinyl, Digital
Soundcloud: https://on.soundcloud.com/CSdFzJWfX7BSqe0AR7

ATMOSPHERIC MUSICAL MICROVERSES

The music explores small worlds, each with their own distinctive sound, all united in the shared sound universe of the quintet's genre-defying chamber jazz. With the collective creative process as the focal point, the bedrock of music is explored. Kaleidoscopic, colorful sounds. Minimalist melodic repetitions. Wide, open panoramas and quirky little details. The compositions focus on simplicity and immersion, which give the musicians the opportunity to express themselves with freedom and emotion. The result is a vivid, meditative and spiritual musical experience that not only speaks to the brain, but also to the heart.

The album is the follow-up to the Danish trio's acclaimed debut Blodmånen og dig, which received praise both in Denmark and abroad, was Album of the Week on Danish Radio P8 Jazz and was on JazzNyt's list of the 10 best Danish jazz releases in 2020. On the new album, the trio's universe is expanded with the talents of saxophonist/clarinetist Francesco Bigoni and cellist Malthe Volfing Højager. The musical universe is visually underscored by the record's stunning artwork by Paul Wilson and Yellow1.

RELEASE

10/4	(1. single)	It's all getting fuzzy
8/5	(2. single)	Fatamorgana
9/6	(album)	Microverse I

CREDITS

All compositions by Gorm Askjær except group improvisations (A2, A3, B3, B5) and You Can Never Hold Back Spring (Waits/Brennan)
Recorded and mixed by Anders Ørbæk
Mastered by Karl Klaseie, Øra Mastering
Cover art by Paul Wilson, Yellow1
Recorded at FinlandStudio, Aarhus

GORM ASKJÆR TRIO+

Francesco Bigoni (clarinet, saxophone)
Malthe Volfing Højager (cello)
Gorm Askjær (guitar)
Jens Mikkel Madsen (bass)
Thomas Eiler (drums)

A

Fatamorgana
Under The Microscope
It Almost Works
Grains Of Sand
Where Do Lost Memories Go?
Specks Of Dust In A Beam Of Light

B

Echoes
It's All Getting Fuzzy
Hazy Dawn
Strands Of Mycelia
Good Old Times
You Can Never Hold Back Spring

Contact: Gorm Askjær // gormask@hotmail.com
Webshop (LP): www.jaegercommunity.com/shop
www.gormaskjaer.dk